E-ONE Appoints Fire Service as New Dealer

Ocala, FL, (January 30, 2008) – E-ONE announces the appointment of Fire Service, Inc., as its new dealer for North and Central Indiana, Northern Illinois and Western Ohio.

“Along with many years of fire apparatus sales experience, Fire Service brings with them a highly skilled service center and irreplaceable customer service,” said George Logan, vice president of dealer operations.

After working seven and a half years in the service department of a major fire apparatus manufacturer, Shawn Junker, general manager of Fire Service, was presented with an opportunity to open his own service center in June of 1991. In May of 2004, at the encouragement of his service customers, Junker added fire apparatus sales to his repertoire.

“I have always felt that sales sells the first truck but great service and customer relations are crucial to follow-up orders,” said Junker. “We are excited about coming on board with E-ONE and about the new products we can now offer the fire and public safety departments in our territory.”

In its three years as a fire apparatus sales facility, Fire Service sold 97 units for their previous manufacturer. Junker attributes his strong relationships with customers for their immediate success in sales and says his customers have been very supportive with his decision to become an E-ONE dealer.

“We were looking for a manufacturer that would take us into the future with product depth and innovation,” said Junker. “After looking at several manufacturers, we felt E-ONE was a well-rounded product for our customers.

Fire Service offers its customers two convenient locations in St. John, IN, and Columbus, IN, with 11 service technicians and five mobile service trucks. To ensure their customers’ needs are well attended to, Fire Service has two regional sales managers, Jim Castellano and Daryl Myers, who are responsible for eight outside sales representatives.
